"WHERE LAW ENDS, TYRANNY BEGINS" WILLIAM PITT

The Garden of Eden has always been symbolic of paradise, a place where man first found happiness, shelter, and protection from the hardships of life. But the years of paradise did not last forever. Man was forced to leave the Garden and make his way in the world.

Now we, too, must go out and make our way in the world. Here, as students at New Utrecht, we have found happiness through our work with other people. Although we have had some measure of shelter and protection, we have tried to learn about life, and, through knowledge, to differentiate between good and evil. However, all this knowledge will not be really meaningful unless we actually have experiences to which it can be applied. Those of us who have taken advantage of the opportunities of learning to gain a better understanding of people and situations will be prepared to meet and solve the problems which will face us—to live harmoniously in the world of today and to contribute freely to the world of tomorrow.

We therefore dedicate this yearbook to the hope that each of us, about to embark on his journey into the world, will someday find his own paradise.

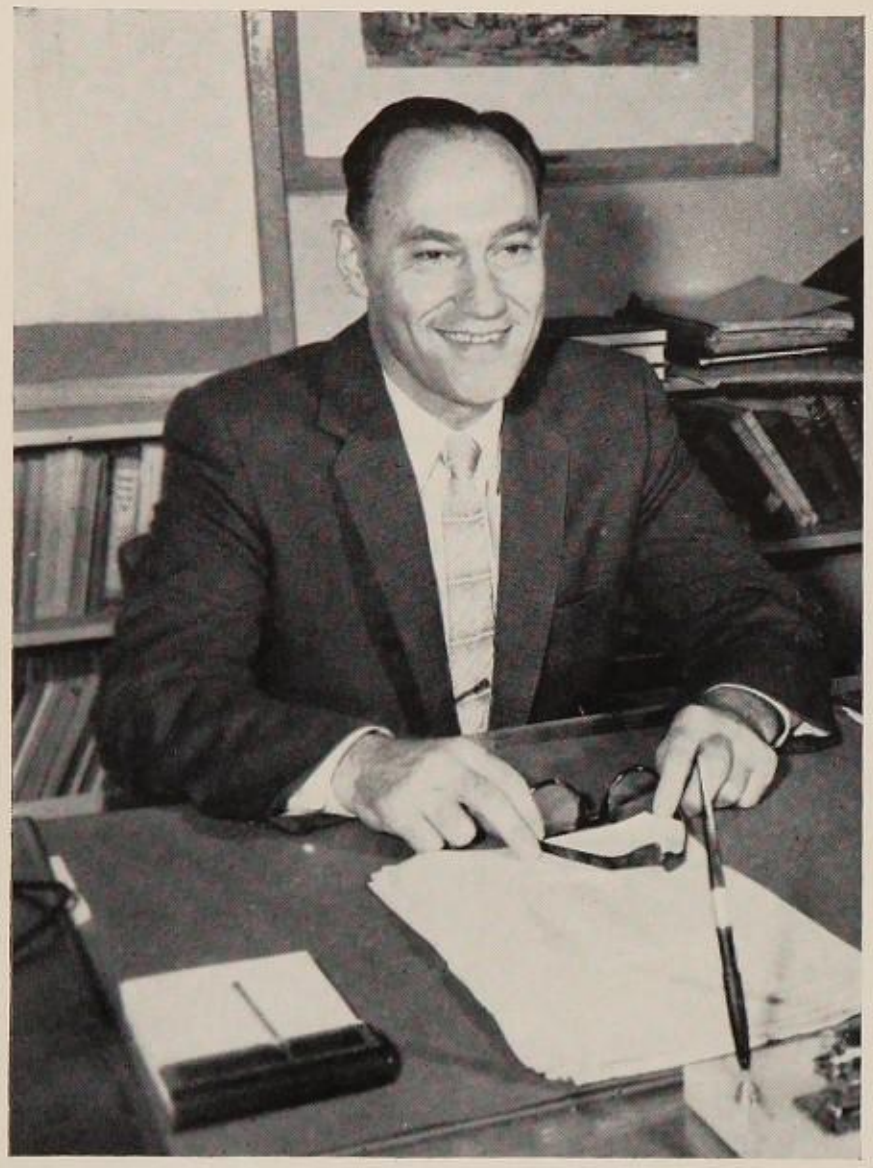
SENIOR CLASS
BULLETIN BOARD



Principal's Message

It is only in the last few months that our paths at New Utrecht High School have crossed. When I arrived, you were already seniors, and so we have had little opportunity to know one another.

Nevertheless I am certain, from what I have seen of our school, that it has meant a great deal to you and that you, like others who have been graduated in the past, will cherish many pleasant memories of New Utrecht. I can assure you, too, that the school will continue its interest in you, and that you will always find it ready to help you in any way that it can.

It has often been said that the future is in the hands of our youth. There are some who therefore view the future with fear and gloom. But those who know you best, who judge you not by the misdeeds of a few delinquents but by your record of accomplishment and by the qualities of character you have displayed in your daily lives, are confident that you will meet the challenge of the future with dignity, with courage, and with a sense of responsibility.

I have this confidence in you, the Graduates of January 1957.

ISAAC HERSH

To the Seniors:

The seniors of January 1957 began their organized life with a question mark. Will there be a class or not? They answered with a resounding "yes" and willed it into existence. They gave it vitality and enthusiasm. The yearbook and all other activities were developed with corresponding vitality and enthusiasm.

Our congratulations go to your officers, Cabinet, and all seniors for the co-operation and good will which carried your activities to a successful conclusion.

As you leave us, we hope you stamp your future activities with the same high purpose and success. Best wishes to you all.

Sincerely yours,

EMANUEL SCHACKER

Senior Adviser's Message

Planting Schedule

SEPTEMBER 10—First day of school. "We are so wonderful—we are so grand. We're seniors at last!"

SEPTEMBER 12—First COMET meeting. "Will we have our own COMET, or won't we? That is the question."

SEPTEMBER 17—First Senior Cabinet meeting. "There's so much to do, and oh . . . so few Cabinet members."

SEPTEMBER 24-29—Graduation pictures. . . . "Four poses were snapped in 30 seconds. No wonder not one of them caught our best smile!"

OCTOBER 10—Ordered our senior jewelry.

OCTOBER 18—Senior Class elections. "Congratulations to Miller, Addeo, Grubler, Kessler, and Canner."

OCTOBER 19—"The question is settled. We're having our own COMET —but the book will be smaller, and our senior dues will be higher."

OCTOBER 25—Senior Celebrity elections—"It seems as if everyone in the class is a candidate for something."

NOVEMBER 13—Brooklyn College exams. "We couldn't even answer the sample questions!"

NOVEMBER 17—Senior Celeb Dance—"So how come nobody showed up?"

NOVEMBER 22-26—Thanksgiving holiday. "A vacation's a vacation, even if it's a short one."

DECEMBER 3—"What! our jewelry got lost in the mail? Neither rain nor sleet can delay the mail, but it sure managed to delay our jewelry!"

DECEMBER 13, 14, 15—Sing a huge success! "Everyone was wonderful, but the seniors were the best. Naturally!"

DECEMBER 20—Seniors are caught up in the holiday spirit and can be heard singing . . . "Hark the herald angels shout—A few more weeks and we'll be out!!"

DECEMBER 22-JANUARY 2—Christmas vacation. "Not enough time to study for Regents, college boards, and scholarship exams, write for COMET, rehearse for the senior show, and find time to enjoy ourselves too!"

JANUARY 1—Happy New Year . . . "and I'll never drink anything stronger than milk again!!"

JANUARY 4—Senior Day. Feeling like "sloppy seniors" so often, we didn't recognize ourselves as such sweet, sophisticated "lollipop toters."

JANUARY 8—Jewelry arrived. At last!!

JANUARY 18-24—Regents . . . ugh!!

JANUARY 24, 25—State Scholarship exams. "My superiority complex suffered a detrimental setback."

PICNIC IN PARADISE

Judy K.

Here is an opportunity for all you flower-lovers to "gather ye rosebuds" at the Twentieth Annual Reunion Picnic of the January 1957 Graduating Class, which is meeting this year in the Garden of Eden.

Look who's just arrived — that famous well dressed Congressman, HAL MILLER. Following at his heels is GERSHON GREENBERG, who, after having taken a six-week course in "How to Speak Up," has become a famous lawyer. Talking with him is a pony tail with a girl attached to it. Could it be ANNE MICHAEL?

The latest rocket ship COMET, bringing some new arrivals, is landing on the picnic grounds next to the "Tree of Knowledge." ELAINE LEVY, who is sitting under the "tree," takes time out from eating her apple to greet pilot IRA TELLER and those universally renowned editors, BARBARA GORDON, HARRIET HOLLENBERG, and JOYCE ROSMAN, who are now alighting from the rocket.

ROBERTA KREITMAN and RICHARD HOFFMAN are frantically banging the gavel, trying to get the rest of the class quiet so that VITA FEDERICO, SHARON MALAMUD, and JUDY KESSLER can read an account of our accomplishments during the past twenty years. But wait, we hear ISABEL SAMUELS toot the flute to herald the arrival of those Hollywood screen idols, SHARON GRUBLER and MIKE POLLACK, and that famous dramatic actress, PHOEBE ZELMANOW.

The sporting events are about to begin and the crowd moves on to the athletic grounds. TONY CARTER, DON GUIDA, HENRY LEVY, and BART SACKSTEIN are in competition for laurel wreaths. MICKEY SOHN, ELAINE FRIEDMAN, MARSHA CANNER, ELLIE KALIKA and MYRNA GROSS are all cheering the athletes on with a familiar "green and white" allegaroo.

JANIE DEUTSCH and IRENE CHERDACK, who have finally reached five feet with the help of the chefs' hats they are wearing, are very busy preparing the food. Meanwhile, those friendly and charming hostesses, ROSANNE ADDEO and SHARON BARTH, are urging everyone to sample the culinary delights. DIANE BRENNER and AL GOLDEN are making it very difficult for everyone to eat, because of their insistence upon telling jokes.

The wonderful day draws to a close as JUDY SCHWARTZ leads us in community singing. Could those be tears we're brushing from our eyes as we sing the strains of our old school song?

Tomorrow

"Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow . . ." Heedlessly, and unmindful of the importance of the words, students in senior classes have memorized and repeated the familiar line over and over again. The memorization may have been mechanical, but the words have actually had great significance in the lives of the seniors. The seniors . . .

Three years ago, they entered the school, wide-eyed and afraid. They treasured their books and revered their teachers. They tiptoed through the halls, and the sight of a senior caused them to quake. Cutting classes was unheard of and the bright eagerness of the sophomores touched the heart of the coldest teacher. The year wore on, and the bright look wore off. Accustomed to the school, the buds blossomed into flowers and the flowers attached themselves to the grapevine. Thus the first step had been accomplished. The first yesterday had passed. A little wiser in book-learning, the not-so-new New Utrechtites progressed into the second year.

Now their feelings were strangely mixed. Whatever feelings of superiority they entertained as juniors were overshadowed by the vision of that final year. No longer inexperienced, they blended in well with the common surging mass of youths, known as students. Onward they strove, still unable to conceive of the last tomorrow in the remote future.

It was hard to understand that a two-month vacation could promote such a change. When they returned, the familiar gaze of wonder or of mediocrity was gone and in its stead was a wise, knowing look. The look of a — Well, you know . . . a senior.

In every face, in every smile, it was evident—a reflection of pride which proclaimed to the world: I am a senior.

Every day was new and filled with purpose. No more fooling for this class. Midterms, entrance exams, senior buttons, senior hats, Senior Day—each in itself a little tomorrow pushing towards the grand finale.

"Only one more week to graduation," could be heard resounding throughout the halls and then . . . Graduation is tomorrow.

Tomorrow had come. The auditorium was filled with proud parents and well-wishers. The roll call started, the procession began, and within each mind was the thought: Now it is today.

Then it was over. The curtain had fallen, and the day of days had joined the past, the wondrous memories of the preceding years.

Each student had reached his goal. Now in possession of the precious sheepskin, he forged out on his own. And all the yesterdays — the good, the bad, the bright, the sad—surged forth to urge him on to a more promising future, to a brighter tomorrow.

EVELYN GROSS

Forget-Us-Not

We, the Senior Class of January 1957 who will never forget New Utrecht, leave the following with the intention that New Utrecht will never forget us.

To Mr. Hersh: Our best wishes for many pleasant years at New Utrecht — and assembly periods as orderly as he'd like them to be.

To Mr. Waldbaum: A mimeograph machine which will print his long homework assignments.

To Mr. Goldenberg: A G.O. Cabinet that won't bicker over parliamentary procedure.

To Mr. Schacker: A Senior Cabinet that comes to meetings.

To Mr. Horowitz: A staff of non-conformists who will conform to his non-conformity.

To Mr. Abramson: A C.P.A. to come and settle the G.O. budget problems.

To Mr. Rubel: A foolproof system for producing a successful sing.

To Miss Gelber: A staff who loves her even more than we do.

BASKETBALL TEAM

With half the season completed, the basketball team, under the leadership of Mr. Jack Gordon, boasts a perfect record—nine victories, no defeats. At present they are in first place in Division I, having beaten their two chief rivals, Lincoln and Lafayette.

The starting five and high scorers of the team are Captain Joel Silver, Co-Captain Allan Klein, Jerry Sklar, Tommy Fink and Normie Halberstadt.

Off to a brilliant start, the Utes hope to continue their outstanding record and go on to win the Division Title for the second year in a row.

FOOTBALL TEAM

Proud of the football team's performances this season despite a disappointing record, Mr. Rapp, new coach of the gridsters, feels that the boys did extremely well, considering the many problems which faced them.

Tony Carter, a January graduate and co-captain, was named to the All-City Journal American team and the Post PSAL team this year. Tony played guard and tackle for New Utrecht. Saverio Russo, Tony's co-captain, won the Lou Gehrig Award for his football record.

Other members of the team include Santo Giunta, Mel Glickman, Nick Zagami, Joe Borruso, Jimmy Ricks, Amedeo Brancaleoni, Richie Fiore, and Al Tomei.

TRACK TEAM

This year, Coach Jackson Browne's tracksters are led by Captain Don Geffner, New York City 200-yard low hurdle champion and record breaker, and John Hodne, one of the top hurdlers in the city and co-captain of the Green and White team.

In the Third Annual Bishop Loughlin Games, the one meet held so far this season, New Utrecht placed ninth, in competition with 250 schools, with the help of Geffner's capture of second place and Hodne's gaining fifth place in the 60-yard high hurdles. Both boys were credited with breaking a record, since all of the first five hurdlers in the meet beat the established record for that event. George Lewis also set a new record in the shot-put.

Expected to excel this year are George Lewis, shot-putter; Richard Commentucci, Lenny Furman, Marty Hornstein, and Jimmy Ricks, quarter-milers, and Al Corsaro and Irv Hilsenroth, half-milers. Trackster Barton Sackstein is graduating this term.

BASKETBALL, FOOTBALL, AND HANDBALL TEAMS

BASEBALL TEAM

After conducting a series of tryouts this term, Coach Abe Felcher selected about thirty boys for next season's baseball squad. From this group, the Green and White starting team will be chosen.

Don Guida, a good defensive third baseman, is the only player graduating this term.

One of last year's players, Eddie Pinto, a June graduate, is the probable choice for captain. Also returning to the squad this year are Louis De Vita, a catcher, and Frank Vignone, a pitcher.

Mr. Felcher feels that the team is young and fast and has good potential hitters. If these assets are combined with a little luck, the season should be a successful one, he believes.

SWIMMING TEAM

Although the swimming team did not do very well this year, Coach Frank MacDavitt feels that the prospects for next year are promising. He believes that the boys have lots of spirit and determination and he expects several of the boys, especially Don Glantz, Barry Litofsky, and Raymond Kelly, to spark the team.

The captain of this year's group is Alvin Dworkin, freestyler and a lower senior. Other June graduates are Pat Mirrione, co-captain; Donald Blaber, Irwin Tarlow, and Jerry Lieberman.

HANDBALL TEAM

"Outstanding" is the word used by Mr. Abe Rifkin in describing the outlook for the handball team this coming season. He will rely on Mel Ludwig, Ronny Blaber, Mitchell Abelman, and third-termer Andrew Scola to lead the team.

BOWLING TEAM

The bowling team, under the direction of Mr. Jerry Rizzo, has Ben Albenda, Jack Aronowitz, Paul Dolan, Jerry Steuerman, Marc Gemellaro, Frank Valeriotti and George Gaspari returning to the squad this year.

GOLF TEAM

Coach Irving Goldberg feels that this year's golf team is one of the best ever assembled at New Utrecht, and that it has an outside chance to win the division title. The members include Captain Joel Sperber, Jeffrey Kay, Tom Feola, Arnold Haizen, Larry Fornasieri and Donald Glantz.
